

Editor BJN: Professional Editing

Would you like to increase your funding and boost your publications?
Then make sure your grants and manuscripts are

CLEAR

Is English your second language?

Journals routinely ask that researchers who are ESL submit their manuscripts for outside editing prior to submission. I'll edit your text so that it's easy for a native English speaker to read and understand.

CONCISE

Struggling to meet page limits for a grant?

One of my favorite editing tasks is to remove every word that doesn't strengthen the text. I'll ensure that your grant narrative is succinct, yet fits the page limits without straining or sacrificing important details.

COMPELLING

Want to engage reviewers' interest?

Even complex science, when shaped with attention to elements such as sentence rhythm, strong verbs, and fluid transitions, can read smoothly. Readers appreciate and remember effective writing,

MY QUALIFICATIONS

I have extensive experience with grants and manuscripts, having worked for the Department of Microbiology (1987-1989), the Department of Molecular Physiology and Biological Physics (1992-2000), and the Curry School of Education (2001-2008). My own writing has been recognized by three awards from the Virginia Press Association, and I have a B.A. in English from UVa (1985). References and rates provided upon request.
